DIPLOMA IN RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT MANAGEMENT

The Diploma in Research and Development (R&D) Management is a post-baccalaureate program primarily directed toward managerial leadership development. It prepares students to be professional managers of organizations/systems engaged in R&D and technology development and utilization. The DR&DM is designed to enhance knowledge and skills in planning R&D programs, developing and promoting technologies for utilization, and managing human and organizational relations in R&D systems.

Course Objectives

The program aims to enable students to

- Demonstrate enhanced managerial leadership with an R&D-oriented perspective; and
- Influence and transform R&D organizations to be productive, dynamic, cost-effective, environmentally adaptive, socially relevant, and development-oriented.

Mode of Instruction

All courses are taught online following the principles of guided independent study and collaborative inquiry.
